Grammy-nominated artist ALOE BLACC will perform live from the LA Memorial Coliseum during halftime of the Rams-Ravens matchup for Monday Night Football on November 25.

Born and raised in California's Orange County to Panamanian immigrants, Aloe Blacc absorbed styles such as cumbia, merengue and salsa while also falling in love with the hip-hop genre. After releasing his first hip-hop mixtape at the age of 17, Blacc began to draw inspiration from soul musicians such as Donny Hathaway and Marvin Gaye and discovered an affinity for folk-rock singer and songwriters. Boosted by the breakout success of "I Need a Dollar" (which was selected as the theme song to HBO's How To Make It In America), his album Good Things reached gold status in countries around the world and paved way for his signing to XIX Recordings/Interscope Records in 2012. In collaboration with groundbreaking producers like Pharrell Williams in 2014, Blacc's album Lift Your Spirits dropped on New Year's Day and debuted at #4 on the Billboard 200 albums chart and earned a Grammy Award nomination for Best R&B Album. In 2019, he was featured on the late Avicii track "SOS", which earned #1 spots in several countries and in U.S. Dance Charts. Blacc also recently appeared as a guest judge on NBC's Songland and performed "Getting Started" for Fast & Furious: Hobbs & Shaw. He will be releasing his fourth solo album in 2020.

The Rams-Ravens matchup, which will be the final Monday Night Football game to be played at the LA Memorial Coliseum, will be televised nationally on ESPN and ESPN Deportes, as well as on radio in English on ESPN LA 710 AM and in Spanish on KWKW 1330. Tickets to attend the game and view the performance are available at www.therams.com/bal.
